

CV Malek Bajbouj

Personal Data

Name: Malek Bajbouj, MD, MBA
Professor for Psychiatry and Affective Neuroscience (W3)

Address: Department of Psychiatry, Charité, Hindenburgdamm 30, 12200 Berlin, Germany, email: malek.bajbouj@charite.de; can.charite.de
Dahlem Institute for Neuroimaging, Freie Universität Berlin Habelschwerdter Allee 45, 14197 Berlin, email: malek.bajbouj@fu-berlin.de; www.dine-berlin.de

Current Position: Senior Physician, Center for Affective Neuroscience, Department of Psychiatry, CBF, Charité, Berlin, Germany
Adjunct Professor, Department of Psychology, Freie Universität Berlin, Germany

Scientific Focus

Digital Health, Affective Disorders, Stress, Trauma, Social, Affective, and Cognitive Neuroscience, Global Mental Health

Academic and Professional Career

since 01/2019	Head, Global Mental Health Section
since 09/2014	Head, Center for Affective Neuroscience, Charité and Freie Universität Berlin
since 03/2009	Professor for Psychiatry and Affective Neuroscience, Charité
01/2004 – 02/2009	Assistant Professor, Brain Stimulation and Neurophysiology, Freie Universität Berlin
2003	Research Fellow, Columbia University New York, New York, USA
1998 - 2003	Physician and Research Fellow, Department of Psychiatry, University Hospital Benjamin Franklin
1997 – 1998	Physician and Research Fellow, Department of Neurology and Neurophysiology, University Witten/Herdecke
2015-2017	Master of Business Administration, Berlin and St. Gallen
1990 – 1997	Medical School Universities Mainz, Frankfurt and Zürich

Board Certifications

05/2013	Sleep Medicine (Berlin Chamber of Physicians)
02/2006	Psychiatry and Psychotherapy (Berlin Chamber of Physicians)
06/2004	EEG-Trainer Certification (German Society for Neurophysiology)
05/2001	EEG-Certification (German Society for Neurophysiology)

Honors

Positions: Head, independent DFG research group „emotion modulation“, Advisory Board „Research Oriented Teaching“ of Freie Universität; PI Focus Areae „DynAge“ and „eClub“ Freien Universität, Clinical Research Units des Berlin Institutes of Health, Section Editor Experimental Neurology; Regular Advisor BMZ, BMG, GIZ, Bundeskanzleramt, Member of the doctoral commission of the Charité, Ethics committee of the Physikalisch-Technischen Bundesanstalt

Awards: Else-Kröner-Fresenius-Award (2014), Chinese National Award (with Yan Fan, 2014), DGPPN Poster Award (2012, with Sabine Aust), AGNP-Poster Award (2011, with Simone Grimm), ISMRM Award (2011, with Simone Grimm), AGNP Poster Award (2005, with Andres Neuhaus), AGNP Poster Awards (2003, Malek Bajbouj)

Selection of Current Research Projects

(only peer-reviewed funding with volume of > 500 k€)

Focus „Digital Health“

German Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development	Balsam II: Development of an interactive IT-based education tool (Sustainable Mental Health Structures for Syrian Refugees in Jordan)
Federal Ministry of Health	MEHIRA: Development of an AI-based mobile stress management tool (Mental Health in Refugees and Asylum Seekers)
Federal Ministry of Education and Research ²	RELATER: Development of an AI based crosslingual diagnostic tool

Focus „Emotional Neuroscience“:

German Research Foundation	Research Group „Emotion modulation“
German Research Foundation	Emotional Endophenotypes

Focus „Affective Disorder“

German Research Foundation ¹	Predictors of antidepressant Electroconvulsive Therapy
German Research Foundation ¹	Deep Brain Stimulation in Depression and their models
Federal Ministry of Education and Research ²	German Center for Brain Stimulation

Focus „Global Mental Health“

Foreign Office	Balsam I: Psychosocial Support of Syrian Refugees in Jordan
Federal Ministry of Education and Research	AFFIN: Affective and cultural dimensions of integration

Publications

More than 175 book chapters, peer-reviewed original articles since 2012; h-index: 44; 5.693 citations; since 2015: h-index: 32; 3.199 citations (status 01.03.2020)

More information:

www.researchgate.net/profile/Malek_Bajbouj

<https://scholar.google.de/citations?user=6UJlbNoAAAAJ&hl=de&oi=ao>

Malek Bajbouj (01.03.2020)